PARKING SHAM

Councillors lose free car park concession at Water Gardens to save money . . . but can claim back charge on expenses

By LOUISE SASSOON, News Editor
sassoonly@hertsessexnews.co.uk

MOVES to make councillors pay to park their cars at the Water Gardens have been ridiculed as a sham this week after it was revealed they can claim back the money on expenses.

All 33 members will have to pay £1 to park during meetings at the Civic Centre after their free car parking entitlement was scrapped as part of a controversial shake-up of charges introduced to generate more revenue for the cash-strapped council's coffers.

But now it has emerged that councillors have been told they can be reimbursed for parking at the Water Gardens under the Members' Allowances Scheme for "authorised" duties.

As well as refunding the £1 parking fee, the council would also have to pay an administrative levy for each claim it receives.

The Conservative-led administration which brought in the fees has vowed to try to change the rules so councillors will be prevented from claiming for parking at the Water Gardens.

However, Labour group leader Mark Wilkinson

More than 300 Easter eggs were purchased after £817 was raised by a sponsored bag-packing session at the Asda supermarket in Harlow town centre.

It was organised by Pitney Bowes corporate development manager Terry Kirby and supported by police community support officers, staff from Pitney Bowes, Harlow-based charity Motability, L and K Consultancy Ltd and the Salvation Army.

A further £500 donated by Motability was used to buy toys.

Anger over councillors' free parking

told the Star: "It is an absolutely stupid sham. This Tory administration jumps from one thing to another. I nearly fell off my chair laughing when I found out about this because it is so ridiculous."

"The Tories seem to make these decisions and not think them through. Then, when they realise what they have done is stupid, they have to backtrack."

Liberal Democrat leader Chris Millington described the situation as "utterly ridiculous" as it would ultimately end up costing the council and taxpayers.

Currently all councillors are entitled to claim back parking fees and other expenses they incur while going about their official duties. Until now they have been able to park for free at the Water Gardens and, therefore, have not needed to claim for attending meetings at the Civic Centre.

This week council leader Andrew Johnson said he would stop all Conservative members from claiming back the money, adding he was shocked to learn that councillors could claim.

"The idea was that councillors paid the same as staff - £1 a day - and I am committed to that," he said. "Obviously there will always be legitimate reasons for expense claims but I don't believe parking at the Water Gardens is or should be claimed for."

"I have asked that this issue be put to the independent panel that looks at members' allowances and expenses to close this expense claim ability for the Water Gardens."

Rainbow deal saves project

A CHARITY which has helped hundreds of disadvantaged people in Harlow is back up and running after securing a funding lifeline.

After weeks of discussions and negotiation, Rainbow Services has managed to obtain an alternative source of cash to enable it to maintain its Re-use Project.

Last month the Star reported that the scheme, which offers furniture and other household items to people on a low income, was due to close at the end of March after Harlow Council axed more than £30,000 of grants to the charity.

But a last-minute deal has now

By LOUISE SASSOON
News Editor
sassooni@hertsessexnews.co.uk

been agreed which will enable the project and the dedicated team which runs it to continue.

The workshop opened its doors again on Monday and will operate five days a week from Monday to Friday.

The recycling side of the business will re-open properly once stocks of furniture and electrical items have built up again. All previous stock was cleared ready for the proposed closure.

New opening times will also be publicised as soon as the project is ready.

Rainbow Services executive director Jackie Sully, who was in charge of finding alternative funding, said: "Staff, volunteers and other local support agencies who refer their clients to the project are all delighted the service will continue."

"We received many messages of support during the time of the financial crisis and these went through the roof following the front page article in the Star."

"It had been a very testing time for the people involved in the project and for the organisation as a whole."

She added: "Rainbow Services is about a lot of different projects but we are one organisation which operates very much together."

"Like a family, if one part is affected then the rest is too. Now it's like a cloud has been lifted and we can focus on what we do best - getting on with it."

Legion dedicates its new standard

THE proud members of Harlow Royal British Legion turned out in force for the dedication of their new standard on Sunday.

A colourful procession led by the Essex Pipe & Drum Band wound its way along Tawney Road towards St Stephen's Church, where the standard was formally dedicated by the Reverend Albert Watson.

Representatives of other Legion branches attended the service, each bearing their own standards.

Harlow branch secretary Valerie Fitz-John said: "It was a wonderful day and a tremendous parade."

"Lots of residents came out of their houses to see what was going on when they heard the pipes and drums approach, which made the procession even more special for our members."

Trio caged for assault which left man with stab injuries

TWO women and a man described by a judge as "evil" have been sentenced to a total of 20 years behind bars for a vicious attack.

Amy Boorman (25), of The Hides, Harlow, her brother Jack Boorman (20), from Chelmsford, and his girlfriend Laura Crooks (19), of Longbanks, Harlow, stood hand-in-hand as they were caged on Monday.

Jack Boorman was given eight years in a young offenders institution, his sister seven years in prison and Crooks five years in a young offenders institution.

All three were found guilty at Chelmsford Crown Court of conspiring to cause grievous bodily harm to Tyson Hale, who suffered shoulder, facial and chest injuries.

During their trial the court heard that on July 4 last year Mr Hale was left with serious injuries as a result of a sustained and violent attack in Longbanks during which he was stabbed a number of times.

He had been in telephone conversations, one of which was with Amy Boorman, during which he was said to have been abusive.

He had not realised it was her on the telephone, thinking he was talking to his ex-girlfriend.

Prosecutor David Holborn said Amy Boorman had been upset by the telephone call and had told her brother, encouraging him to pick a fight with Mr Hale.

Firm put its stamp on the town

HERE is a picture of the Green Shield Trading Company building in River Way, Templefields, taken in 1963. The company was one of the first and probably the best remembered firms to produce trading stamps which people could collect and exchange for household goods. But Nostalgia wants to learn more about the company. Perhaps you were a former employee or somebody who was an avid collector of the stamps. If so, write to Nostalgia, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

Time capsule in paper form

A TANGIBLE piece of local history has arrived at Nostalgia in the form of one of the first editions of the Star's sister paper, the Herts and Essex Observer.

Nowadays the Observer concentrates on gathering news in an area spanning Bishop's Stortford to Stansted, but in 1887 it covered a huge patch which included Hertford, Essex, Middlesex, Cambridge and Suffolk.

Perusing its pages, courtesy of owner David Bracey, it is evident how much newspapers have changed over the century, with separate news columns for each town it covered, including Harlow, and copy which was written more like stream-of-consciousness prose than the snappy style and pun-riddled headlines many papers feature these days.

By

But some things never change and its pages – rather large despite there only being half-a-dozen of them – are littered with advertisements for obscure potions and pills.

A joke section was also run and the paper had a dedicated gossip column which told tales on unnamed authority figures of the time.

Published on Saturdays instead Thursdays, the July 9, 1887 edition covered many interesting news items which had taken place in Harlow the week before.

One such story is a piece of court copy in which four men were accused of committing wilful damage at the White Horse pub, in Potter Street, by breaking windows valued at £2.

The four were said to have been in a group of up to 60 people partaking in a pub crawl when they were accused of using bad language and were ordered from the pub.

However, it seems a disturbance followed and gas lamps were thrown through the windows.

All the men were fined for their aggressive actions and given a week to pay.

SWIMMING POOL IN SPLINTS

It will be a long time until swimmers will be able to splash around in Harlow Pool again. Major structural work is well under way on repairs which will keep the pool shut until the end of the year. The work is costing £250,000.

GENTLEMAN JIM DIES

Jim Desormeaux, Harlow Council's staunch Labour veteran, has died at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital after suffering two strokes four weeks ago. Jim, aged 78, devoted much of his life to many different groups in Harlow and served on the council for 18 years.

VANDALS' WRECKING SPREE

The opening of a new council complex for Harlow's elderly will be delayed after vandals caused thousands of pounds worth of damage. Thugs hacked down doors with axes and slashed insulating blocks in Burgone Hatch.

SHEEP DIE AS DOGS STRIKE

A farmer returned to his home to find he had lost 15 sheep after two killer dogs got among a flock of 300. A further 27 were left badly injured with neck and leg wounds following the attack at Matching Hall.

Judge warns man cleared of series of sex assaults

A MAN accused of a series of attacks on vulnerable women in Harlow has been cleared by a Crown Court jury.

But even though he was acquitted of charges against him, Michael Kayode was told by Judge Christopher Ball: "The authorities will be watching you like a hawk."

The judge made his comments after it was revealed Kayode, (22), of Moorfield, Harlow, had fallen under suspicion for similar behaviour before.

The jury of seven men and five women found Kayode not guilty of rape, sexual assault, robbery and attempted robbery.

The jury at Chelmsford Crown Court was told three women, one of them aged 73 and the other two in their 50s and 60s, were attacked between July 20 and August 5 last year.

Kayode said he was not at the scene of any of the attacks which took place near shops in Staple Tye, Harlow.

Philip King, defending, told jurors the prosecution maintained the offences were so similar that they must have been committed by the same man. However, he argued there were a number of differences.

He also said evidence of identification given by the victims was not clear enough to convict his client of the offences. However, the judge told Kayode that evidence in the case could be used in any future proceedings should he again come under suspicion.

"You and I know that the conduct which led to you being accused was similar to conduct which previously led to you falling under suspicion," said the judge.

"What you must understand is that if you fall under suspicion again and find yourself in the situation you were in now, the facts of this case might fall to be resurrected against you if you are suspected of similar conduct."

More flower thefts from crematorium

By LOUISE SASSOON
News Editor

sassoonl@hertsexnews.co.uk

A GRIEVEING pensioner is furious that floral tributes were stolen just hours after his partner's funeral at Parndon Wood Crematorium.

Herbert Clements (67) said up to seven bunches of flowers left for Doreen Palmer were taken from outside the chapel while the cards attached to them were removed and left under a wreath.

When he contacted Harlow Council to report the incident he was told it the flowers had probably been eaten by deer or that the bunches had blown away in a wind.

But Mr Clements is adamant the flowers were stolen and has called for CCTV to be installed at the site.

His story comes just one week after Lisa Rump and her family told of their upset when seven bunches of flowers were stolen only three hours after her grandmother's funeral.

Mr Clements, of Malkin Drive, Harlow, said: "Something needs to be done up there to stop this happening ... you pay enough for a funeral and the last thing you expect is to have flowers stolen. It's really degrading."

He found the flowers stolen

Shock at theft of funeral flowers

ANGRY: Mr Clements with the cards from the stolen flowers (photo: HZ47J7NG/06) and, left, a flashback to last week's Star the day after his partner's funeral on March 9.

"I was just so upset I have only just been able to talk about it," he said. "My son, who had flown over from Australia, said he couldn't believe it. It's disgusting."

A council spokesman said this week the authority had been in contact with local police about the matter, stating: "There is a suspicion that some flowers and wreaths may have been stolen, although the council has no record or reports of any theft being witnessed."

He added it was unlikely CCTV will be installed at the site because of cost.

Operating theatre in chemical spill scare

A DECONTAMINATION zone had to be set up around an operating theatre at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital after staff feared there had been a chemical leak.

Firefighters were called to PAH at about 10.30am on Sunday to investigate a strong smell of ammonia coming from inside the theatre.

Crews wearing special air-tight suits entered the area to locate the source of the odour, which was found to be coming from a fridge used to store drugs.

The leakage was cleared up and the drugs moved to another area before the theatre was ventilated.

One person was reported to have been affected by the fumes.

A hospital spokesman said: "Patients were not affected and the operating theatres were not being used as it was a Sunday."

"It was good work by the member of staff to react as quickly as she did to ensure facility staff were put on alert and firefighters called as a matter of precaution."

Kerry murder trial to last six weeks

FIVE people accused of offences relating to the death of a 24-year-old woman in a fire in Harlow have appeared in court ahead of their trial.

No pleas were entered regarding the allegations of murder and perverting the course of justice following an arson attack in Bush Fair, Harlow, which killed Kerry Youngs and left her boyfriend Kevin Chapple with severe brain damage.

The trial, which is expected to last six weeks, is due to start on April 21. Two youths are accused of murder and three others charged with conspiring to pervert the course of justice.

The pair accused of murder are aged 16 and 17 and both live in Harlow. They cannot be named for legal reasons.

They were remanded in custody at the pre-trial hearing at Chelmsford Crown Court on Friday.

They are also charged with causing grievous bodily harm with intent and arson with intent to endanger life. A man, a woman and a 15-year-old are accused of conspiracy to pervert the course of justice.

Miss Youngs (24) and Kevin Chapple (then 27) were in their Sherwood House flat in Bush Fair on May 4, 2005 when the Housing target is wishful thinking

SIR, Bill Rammell MP is, according to a report on the Star website, against plans to build a second runway at Stansted Airport.

Meanwhile, Secretary of State for Transport Geoff Hoon has announced the M11 will not be widened between junction eight at Bishop's Stortford and junction six at Loughton until at least 2021 because of the fall in passenger numbers at the airport, although we all know it is because the Government has run out of money.

Even housing minister Margaret Beckett has said the Government's pledge to build three million affordable new homes by 2020 is in trouble. The banks aren't lending, people are not buying new houses and the construction industry has ground to a halt.

The East of England Plan is built around the premise of a second runway at Stansted and that Harlow will attract employment related to the growth of the airport.

With no plans for a bypass for the next decade, no growth at Stansted (so no new jobs) and no widening of the M11, the designation of Harlow as a key centre for development and change lies in tatters. The hundreds of millions of pounds needed for infrastructure are now just wishful thinking.

I live in hope that politicians will ask for the East of England Plan to be revised to remove the requirement to build 16,000 new homes around Harlow by 2021 and, in the short term, concentrate on bringing existing empty homes into occupation to meet the immediate housing need.

Road plans are just a waste of cash

SIR, The announcement of an additional £13.4m to be spent on improving the roads in Harlow seems a total waste of money (Star, April 2). Perhaps those responsible for the decision will explain just how the proposals will improve the situation.

Widening the A414 between the M11 and the Southern Way roundabout seems to solve nothing. The queue to get into Harlow from the motorway happens because cars are not readily dispersed efficiently away from the Southern Way roundabout and off through the town. Routes from that point get clogged because much of the traffic is either endeavouring to pass through or to travel to the town centre or to the business commercial sites on the west and north sides. This backs up some mornings well onto the motorway and I would think constitutes a major hazard.

The queue to get out of Harlow and onto the M11, which all too frequently backs up preventing traffic exiting Newhall and Church Langley, happens because the roundabout at the motorway junction just can't cope.

Widening the short stretch of the A414 will simply make the queue fatter but I can't see how it will solve the problems brought about by the fact that the motorway is built on the wrong side of town and which created the situation whereby drivers have to pass through virtually the whole town to get to work or shop.

It seems the £9.9m will just create a wider creeping car park. Perhaps someone can explain to the voters, council tax payers and those of us who will suffer the consequences just how the improvements will solve the underlying problems.

With regards to First Avenue, haven't we just had months of roadworks and delays for what seem to be hardly discernible improvements in traffic flow? In fact, it does seem rather worse than the original layout.

Things seem to have got a lot worse as new pedestrian crossings around the town seem to have been carefully placed to further disrupt the flow of traffic.

It wouldn't be so bad if the proposals took in the problems of those trying to access the town from the other direction. How will the proposed spend improve access on the A414 for those travelling from the Hertford direction?

If the town is more successful at attracting employers and continues to grow, then these problems will only get worse.

A bypass from junction seven at Hastingwood around the town and back to a new junction on the M11 would solve all of the problems and would relieve all of the congestion problems we see building around the town.

Tinkering with the matter just seems a waste of resources.

E.J. Vine
Fenton Grange, Harlow

SIR, Further to your report concerning upgrades to Harlow's transport links and especially the £9.9m earmarked for "improvements" to the A414 from Southern Way towards Hastingwood, I must say that this seems an awful lot of money to spend on expanding a car park, which is what this road becomes at peak times.

I can't see how this scheme will do anything other than increase the holding capacity of this short stretch of road. Perhaps that is what the authorities want.

I would like to ask the authorities if there will be an opportunity for the residents of Harlow to have their say at a public consultation. After all, it's our money they are proposing to spend and it's part of our town they are going to dig up.

We have heard politicians, both local and national, say that it's going to be good for us but look what a mess they've got us in to. So let us see the proposal and judge for ourselves.

John Curry
Old Orchard, Harlow

Shop staff need a place to park

SIR, In response to councillor Tony Hall's letter about the introduction of car parking charges ("Nothing is free anymore", April 2) he mentions that residents and shop staff park in the shop car parks.

I would suspect that this is the case because there are no other areas for them to park, probably because other areas have been yellow lined in order to further raise cash for the council.

I wonder if he can tell me where they will now park? I think we can safely forecast that the amount of cars will not reduce and shop workers and residents will still need to park. Therefore, all that the council has really done is impose another charge and at the same time sealed the fate of the shops in those areas as people will simply drive to the nearest supermarket.

Regarding the funding of public services, maybe he should consider a pay freeze? I'm sure this would help us keep public services such as the advice service which I believe was the last value added service that Harlow Council actually provided.

I would conclude by correcting the heading of his letter to nothing isn't free anymore, as most Harlow residents will tell you after the hike in their council tax.

Simon Cook
Mulberry Terrace, Harlow

Run the town for our benefit

SIR, Councillor Tony Hall must be living in a different town to the rest of us. If he thinks that charging for car parking is going to provide funding for our 'wearing-out town' he is wrong.

None of the savings Harlow Council has made in the past have ever gone on the town or its residents. It just goes on the council's ever-expanding bureaucracy, enforcement and salaries/bonuses of officers who are unaccountable to anyone.

Have you noticed that nothing is ever their fault? It's always the Government, their partners or the residents.

By charging for parking it goes against everything Harlow stands for, but that's OK because by charging for parking, The Stow, Bush Fair and the old town will wither and die. The council can then sell them to a developer for a few bob. A nice little earner, as they say.

Each new administration seems intent on selling off or destroying as much as possible of Harlow so that when they get kicked out of office the residents can never rebuild or recover. A really sad indictment of the present system.

Is it not time that councillors of all parties developed some backbone and started to run this town for the people who elected them rather than their political gain and the benefit of their overpaid officers?

Mike Carr
Rundells, Harlow

Advice service fight goes on

SIR, The Friends of Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice are delighted that this vital service has re-opened. Although we are pleased that the service can continue, we are disappointed by the scale of the cuts and will continue to argue for adequate funding.

Thanks are due to the 7,350 people who signed the petition handed to Harlow Council, the hundreds who signed a follow-up petition on the Government's website, the very many community leaders who ensured that the implications of losing the service were made known and those voluntary and statutory organisations which supported FoWRA's campaign in words and deeds.

Local media played a vital role in reporting the progress of the campaign and so did the High Court challenge mounted by three HRWA clients to persuade a change of approach by Harlow Council.

We all need to watch developments and be alert to the need to go on working to achieve a sustainable future for the HWRAS.

Tory election leaflet insult

SIR, Having just received the latest Conservative leaflet for the forthcoming by-election in Staple Tye, I felt compelled to respond to at least one of the wild claims in it. Under the heading 'Sheltered Housing' it says: "We find it strange that the Liberal Democrats claim the council are returning sheltered housing to general use. They know this is not true and measures have been put in place to make sure this does not happen".

It then describes the behaviour of Liberal Democrats as irresponsible and immoral and accuses us of scaremongering.

As one of the team that spoke to residents before the final decision to get their views – not after, like the Tories – I find this highly insulting not only to me but, more importantly, to the residents.

At the housing committee meeting held on January 15 it was resolved – and I quote direct from minutes published on the council's website – that "approval be given, in principle, to reallocating a number of sheltered housing schemes to general housing in order to reduce the council's over provision of sheltered housing and to streamline the Sheltered Housing Service".

These proposals were voted through at the housing committee meeting held on February 5, along with the amendment by Liberal Democrat councillor Lesley Rideout to put an age restriction on lettings to over-55.

So where is the untruth? Where have we been immoral? Where have we been irresponsible?

The Tories must live in a different world to me and this just shows how desperate they are. Over the past year we have become used to fabrications but this must be an all-time low.

It has, in fact, shown them to be irresponsible and immoral.

Woman (48) is cut by mugger

A WOMAN was left needing hospital treatment after being mugged by a knife-wielding robber.

The 48-year-old victim had withdrawn cash from an ATM at Tesco, in Church Langley Way, at about 10.25pm last Wednesday and was returning to her car when she was grabbed by a man who tried to snatch her handbag.

During the struggle the man pulled a knife which cut her leg before making off with the bag containing £200 cash.

The victim was taken to Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital where she received stitches.

Her attacker was said to be 17-19, with black short curly hair and a diamond stud in his right ear. He was wearing a white hooded top with a blue line across the middle and back, white trainers and dark jeans.

PAH waiting list nearly on target

HOSPITAL chiefs are hoping to reach targets for waiting times by the end of the month.

The Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust currently falls short of Government guidelines to treat 90 per cent of cases within 18 weeks.

The Trust is already fully compliant for non-admitted cases and is one of the top performers for cancer treatment waiting times.

Jailed for throwing single killer punch

DANIEL CLARKE

A MAN wept as he was jailed for three years for killing a 34-year-old father in Harlow town centre with a single punch.

The blow landed by Daniel Clarke (22) caused Mark White, of Broadfields, Harlow, to suffer a ruptured brain artery.

Clarke, of Church Leys, Harlow, was convicted of manslaughter at a previous hearing. He had denied the charge.

Passing sentence at Chelmsford Crown Court on Friday, Judge Christopher Ball told him: "This was a tragic episode of unlawful violence which has led to unexpected consequences."

"You were aggressive, unpleasant, drunk and threw a punch which killed a man. You know there must be a term of imprisonment."

Afterwards, Detective Inspector Martin Passmore said: "Nothing could be said or done to bring Mark White back but I have to say, all things considered, this was always going to attract a sentence at the lower end of the scale."

Trouble started after Clarke's group gesticulated at Mr White's group outside Quattroz nightclub in The Rows on March 21 last year.

During the trial David Holborn, prosecuting, said Clarke's group perceived the others had queue jumped for a taxi and made the gestures because they were annoyed.

All three got out of the cab, including Mark White, although he stood by the cab while the other two began to chase members of Clarke's group, he said.

Clarke was also standing nearby and went up to Mark White. He lost his temper and punched him hard.

Clarke, who denied a charge of manslaughter claimed he acted in self defence, telling the jury he panicked when Mr White had moved towards him.

Graham Brown, representing Clarke, said in mitigation: "His remorse is genuine. This is something that is going to be permanent, not transient that will pass in days, months or years."

Baseball fever pitch

BASEBALL organisers hit a home run when they officially opened Harlow's own baseball diamond. Three teams were invited to try out the facility at Northbrooks playing field, built with financial help from Barclays Bank.

Brookfield plan a threat to the regeneration of town centre

HARLOW Council is fighting to stop the massive expansion of a Cheshunt shopping centre amid fears it will damage the town's economy and hinder its ongoing regeneration.

Developers want to double the number of shoppers visiting the Brookfield Centre by building a new shopping area called Brookfield Riverside.

The blueprints are scheduled to become reality by 2015-16.

But in a written submission to Broxbourne Council, Harlow Council regeneration manager Cath Shaw stressed that Brookfield should not be a site for major retail development because of its status as an out-of-town shopping centre and urged the authority to instead concentrate on what is being offered at town centres in its district.

"Harlow is identified by the East of England Plan as a priority area for regeneration and a major town centre," she said, adding that it is to be expected that consumers will travel from the Broxbourne borough to Harlow to buy non-food items.

"Public transport links between Harlow and Broxbourne borough are excellent and it does not therefore follow that significant retail leakage to Harlow is unsustainable," she claimed.

"Local shopping needs should be met through existing town centres, with sub-regional shopping needs met at major town centres, including Harlow." Stockland, a development company working with Harlow Council, is also against the Brookfield expansion.

Teenager victim of park mugger

A TEENAGE boy suffered minor injuries when he was robbed of his bag at Harlow's skate park. The youth was at the First Avenue facility on Tuesday when he was approached by his assailant at about 12.30pm.

Town's train tracks a hotspot for crime

Mites a threat to bee colonies

WILDLIFE in Harlow could be under threat from a killer parasite which has been blamed for a major drop in the number of bees during recent months.

Beekeeper Danny Nicholls, pictured above with one of his hives, said honey bees are under attack from the Varroa Destructor mite, leaving growing numbers of fruit trees and crops unpolinated.

The UK has seen its bee population decline by up 30 per cent but Mr Nicholls is warning that Harlow has been particularly affected by the invasion.

"My hives are not building up as well as what I had expected them to," he said. "Some of them are still quite small. I have lost six colonies this winter alone." Beehives throughout Harlow are seeing the same effects. After a succession of two bad summers, the infection seems to be spreading more quickly throughout the hives.

Other local beekeepers are growing increasingly worried about the parasite, which has already spread across the UK and is weakening colonies.

Mr Nicholls warned it could cost the economy millions since up to 80 per cent of crops and plant life rely on honey bees for pollination.

A GROUP of teenagers were caught playing football on railway tracks near Harlow Town Station just moments before a 200-tonne train thundered past.

The incident was one of many to occur in the town last year, pushing Harlow into the area's top 10 rail crime hotspots.

Now rail bosses are launching an annual campaign designed to get children on the right side of the tracks by promoting positive activities for them to get involved with.

Network Rail chief executive Iain Coucher said: "We are working hard to tackle the most dangerous crimes where young people think it is fun to play chicken with a 200 tonne train going at 100mph, or place objects on the line which could have catastrophic consequences."

"Over the spring and summer, we will once again be taking our No Messin' campaign on tour to get young people involved in more exciting and fun stuff."

"That includes sports such as

By LOUISE SASSOON

football and boxing, but also things they might never have tried before like archery, motor-cycling and street dance.

Once the events are over we continue to work with local clubs to sustain that interest and develop their skills and keep them off the tracks for good."

Of 400 incidents reported on the West Anglia network last year, 13 offences were said to have taken place in or around stations in Harlow.

Reported incidents included children lighting fires next to the line and putting rocks on the tracks.

The tally makes the town the seventh worst in the area for rail crime. Cheshunt was named as the worst place, with 17 reported offences last year.

Mr Coucher added: "We're seeing some real success in bringing down the levels of railway crime in hotspot areas, but there is much more work to be done to save lives and prevent needless injury."

Employment tribunal adjourns after hearing from college principal

HARLOW College principal Colin Hindmarch has been giving evidence at an employment tribunal considering allegations of unfair dismissal.

The hearing, which is being held in London, has been adjourned until June 8.

History lecturer James Meadow, from Cheshunt, and Paul Hughes, from Redbridge, are challenging the way dismissal procedures were handled.

Both men are claiming unfair dismissal and 90 days protective award for the others made redundant.

Mr Meadow has told the hearing that news he would lose his job because of restructuring in 2007 came as a "thunderbolt" and a "devastating blow" to him.

However, the consultation process was described to the tribunal by Mr Hindmarch as one that had been going on for many years.

He said it was traditional to handle "significant" changes at colleges over many years and said that when it was resumed there had been no protests by members of the college board.

Join us for a great night out on the town

RAISING money for St Clare Hospice is a team effort in every sense. And that's certainly true in the case of one group of women who have signed up to take part in this year's Midnight Walk.

Staff at the Warden Lodge GP practice in Cheshunt are preparing to paint Harlow pink on Saturday, June 20.

For team leader and medical receptionist Maggs Short it will be an emotional night.

Her husband, Ronnie, was cared for at St Clare's after he was diagnosed with cancer. He died on December 14 last year.

"Like most people I didn't know what's involved with a hospice and the care they provide," said Maggs. "I quickly realised that a lot of their funding isn't from the Government.

"We were both so grateful for what they did for us so this is our way of giving something back, our way of saying thank you."

Maggs has persuaded her colleagues at the practice to join her on the 10km walk which, like last year, is being supported by the Star. Organisers are hoping more than 2,000 people will take part and have set a fundraising target of £120,000.

"Because of where we work we're very aware of patient care," said Maggs. "Now the team are supporting the walk and my plan to help St Clare, it's fantastic and means a lot to me.

"We don't get much of a chance to go out together so it's lovely to have a good time as a team and what's great is St Clare will benefit. I can't think of anything better for a group to have a great time and at the same time be able to give some money to support the hospice and the people they care for."

St Clare's communications officer Giles Wright added: "People often believe that our patients come from the Harlow area or Epping, but we cover the whole of West Essex and parts of neighbouring East Herts border.

"There is also a common misconception that our patients are all much older, but we care for anyone from the age of 18 up."

More than 200 people have already signed up for the Midnight Walk – an increase on this time last year – but places will go quickly so don't wait to register.

- Six per cent of patients are living with an illness other than cancer
- 88 per cent of patients are living with cancer (six per cent diagnosis unrecorded/not known)
- Patients are referred by GPs, district or Macmillan nurses or hospital teams
- Most of St Clare's patients are living with cancer. However, it also provides care for people living with other life-limiting illness.
- Almost one-third (31 per cent) of the population knows someone who has been cared for by a hospice

Celebrations as 3,150 join Race for Life

By LOUISE SASSOON
News Editor
sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.ukORGANISERS of one of Harlow's biggest charity fundraisers are celebrating this week after reaching their target for participants.

A total of 3,150 women have signed up for the 5k Cancer Research UK Race For Life which is taking place in the Town Park on Sunday, May 10.

It has only taken a matter of weeks to fill all the places for this year's event, which is being supported by the Star and which is expected to raise in the region of £193,000 for Cancer Research UK.

Lucy Hynes, Harlow event manager for Race for Life, said: "We are absolutely thrilled that so many women have accepted our invitation to Race for Life in Harlow.

"Together they will help us create a fantastic atmosphere on the day and raise crucial funds to help beat cancer."

More than 230 races are taking place across the country between May and July. They are the charity's largest women-only series of fundraisers.

Last year 2,126 women took part in Harlow's Race for Life and helped raise an incredible £159,850 for Cancer Research UK's life-saving work.

Mrs Hynes said: "Race for Life is an amazing experience, with local women of all ages, abilities, shapes and sizes coming together to make a positive difference to the lives of people touched by cancer.

"They motivate and inspire each other to complete the 5k. Many simply walk round, chatting and having fun but they all share the wonderful spirit of sisterhood and pride on the day.

"We don't want anyone to miss out. There are a total of 10 events taking place in Essex so although Race for Life in Harlow is full you can still get together with your friends and family and have a fun-filled day at a venue nearby."

Places are still available at Race for Life at North Weald Airfield which takes place on Wednesday, July 15 and Braintree's Great Notley Country Park on Sunday, July 5. For more information, log onto www.raceforlife.org or call 0871 641 2282.

Brian's charity stunt is absolutely hair-raising!

A WACKY pensioner let a fundraising challenge go to his head when he swapped his normal hairstyle for a bright red Mohican.Brian Vernon (75), of Potter Street, Harlow, took the plunge after being urged on by friends who said they would donate cash to charity.*He duly obliged, popping into Legends Haircutters in the*Harvey Centre to get his new look and in the process raised more than £500 for Cancer Quest and St Clare Hospice.*Over the years Mr Vernon has raised more than £50,000 for charity.*Proudly showing off his new haircut, he told the Star: "I intend to keep it like this for as long as possible."

COULD YOU BE A MAGISTRATE?

If you care about your local community, and have the necessary qualities such as common sense and personal integrity and have the time to offer at least 13 days a year, you're the kind of person we're looking for.

Search for daredevils willing to take the plunge for a good cause

ADRENALINE junkies are being invited to help bolster a charity's coffers by abseiling down the side of the Church Langley water tower.

The Harlow-based organisation Motability is calling for volunteers to take part in the Rotary Club of Harlow Tye's annual abseil for charity weekend which takes place on May 2-3.

Last year a group of employees from BUPA Home Healthcare took up the challenge and raised more than £1000 for Motability.

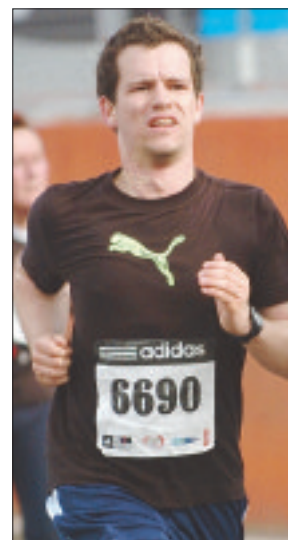

Lucy Tyler, Motability's corporate accounts manager said: "The money raised will help to give more people the freedom and opportunities that having a Motability car brings."

Anyone over the age of 16 who would like to volunteer should call Aine Canavan on (01279) 632258 or email ainec@motability.co.uk.

gruelling months of training to prepare for the race on April 26. He has chosen to support Help the Aged and hopes to complete the 26.2-mile course in a time of four hours 30 minutes and raise at least £1,500 for the charity.

Tom applauds drink warning

A FORMER alcoholic is throwing his weight behind Government proposals to highlight the dangers of underage drinking.

Tom Brennan, who has had a rehabilitation centre named after him in Harlow, is backing the initiative which sends clear messages to parents and teenagers on the effects and health risks of drinking alcohol.

"I don't know where my craving for alcohol came from as my dad didn't drink and my mum never had a problem with alcohol," said Tom. "I drank far more than my friends of the same age, to the extent that they often had to take me home semi-conscious."

The five-point guidance document was launched last month in response to requests from parents for information on how to deal with their children involved in underage drinking.

Latest figures that show the 17 per cent of 11-14 year-olds in Essex have been drunk at least once or twice in their lives.

Seadog is back on beach patrol

WITH his lustrous coat of brown hair, athletic 14-stone physique and powerful swimming action, Bilbo the lifeguard dog would not have looked out of place among the cast of TV beach drama Baywatch.

His commitment to bounding into rough seas to save the lives of swimmers in trouble made him an instant hit with surfers and bathers using a beach in Cornwall.

So when he was banned from the sand by council officials last year there was a public outcry.

But the good news is the brave Newfoundland will be back on duty this summer after hundreds of people signed an online petition to get him back on the beach.

All other dogs apart from guide dogs are banned from the beach Bilbo patrols, but officials have now agreed to let him return as a working dog.

If that hadn't been case, Bilbo's owner Steve Jamieson – Britain's longest-serving lifeguard at the age of 57 – would have to pay a £75 fine every time Bilbo was

Car break-ins are the cue for valuable police advice

DRIVERS in Harlow are being warned not to leave valuables on display after another spate of car break-ins across the town.

Police have reported an increase in the number of thefts from vehicles in the past week, despite increasing foot patrols and handing out crime prevention leaflets to motorists.

Harlow crime reduction officer Graham Anthony said: "I have accompanied officers on patrol and seen at first hand the high number of vehicles left with valuable items on display."

"One car had satellite navigation equipment stuck to the front windscreen, a mobile phone on the dashboard and a handbag on the front passenger seat. I appreciate this person had nipped into a location nearby but that is all it takes for an opportunist thief to steal." During the past few days seven cars have been broken into and items stolen.

Mr Anthony added: "Often the damage they leave behind costs more than the actual items taken."

Will £10m road plan ease A414 rush-hour jam?

By OLIVER GODFREY
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE announcement that millions of pounds are to be poured into a major road scheme to ease Harlow's rush-hour nightmare has received a lukewarm response from the town's residents.

The Star reported last week that almost £10m will be spent on upgrading the stretch of A414 from the M11 junction at Hastingwood to the Southern Way roundabout, which will be replaced by traffic lights.

The project has gained cross-party support from Harlow's politicians but some road users who spoke to the Star are unsure whether it will succeed in easing congestion while others have branded it a waste of money.

Bob Connolly (66), of The Dashes, said: "That £10m could have been put to a better use. It will ease traffic but I don't agree with putting the traffic lights at the bottom of the road. That will still create congestion."

Darryl Ambrose (21), of Davenport, agreed. "It seems a bit expensive for one road," he said. "I think the traffic lights will cause a build-up of traffic at the bottom. They should keep it as it is and spend the money on other things."

And Jackie Hunter (49), of The Briars, said she would prefer to see investment in the town's play areas, adding: "I think it is a waste of money."

But there are some who welcome the proposals. Olivia Hawkins, (80), of Hare Street, said: "It would be much easier for people who have to travel in and out of the town every day."

"Although I don't drive I know you do get a lot of traffic that builds up on that road."

Catalin Matei (26), of The High, said: "There is always too much traffic coming in and out Harlow on that road, especially around rush hour. I think it would benefit the town greatly."

And Angel Lin, (25), of The High, added: "I think it is good for the congestion on that road. I don't have to commute but I can imagine it would make it a lot easier for people who have to although I do think it is a lot of money."

Children get a head start in Easter hats

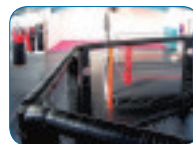

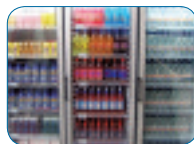

CHILDREN got into the Easter spirit when they made some colourful bonnets and top hats to wear in school parades.

The group of youngsters turned their hands to hat-making during the Saturday Art Club at the Gibberd Gallery. Organiser Pippa King said "We had a great time making bonnets and the wackier the better. There were lots of top hats featuring daffodils, rabbits, chicks and butterflies. "Many of the participants wore their hats to their Easter

Paula's memorable farewell

PETERSWOOD INFANTS: Retiring headteacher Paula Tate was given a send-off to remember when she was treated to a performance by the entire school.

Pupils from all year groups took to the stage to perform the rhyming book Each Peach, Pear Plum before presenting Mrs Tate with flowers and gifts.

After the school day ended, parents and teachers held a tea party in the grounds to mark the end of her 14 years at the Paringdon Road school.

Deputy headteacher Julie O'Neill said: "The staff and governors would like to thank Paula for everything she has done for Peterswood."

Pupils' marriages of lessons and life

THE tradition of Spring weddings was evidently in the air when pupils from both STEWARDS and THE DOWNS held mock ceremonies.

The events, in the school hall and at St Paul's Church respectively, formed part of religious education lessons in which children were taught about marriage and what it entails.

A spokeswoman from The Downs said: "It all went really well and the children enjoyed it."

Engineering success

PARINGDON JUNIOR:

Four talented pupils took part in the Big Bang Young Scientist and Engineers Fair after impressing judges at the Young Engineer Club Showcase at Anglia Ruskin University last June.

Paringdon's Young Engineers Club members found themselves competing against the three best clubs in Britain. They again wowed judges with their knowledge of transistors and their teamwork but were beaten by Fairhaven Juniors, from Norfolk.

School a food flagship

HOLY CROSS PRIMARY:

The school is celebrating being named by the Lottery-funded Food For Life Partnership as one of 180 flagship schools and communities throughout England.

The five-year initiative, led by the Soil Association, aims to transform food culture in schools and communities, bringing together the expertise of the Focus On Food Campaign, Garden Organic and the Health Education Trust.

The school will receive hands-on support from the Partnership's team to put more fresh, local and organic food on the menu and get pupils – plus interested parents and community groups – cooking and growing their own food by forging links with local farms.

Bairstow Eves launches new Chain Free initiative

BAIRSTOW Eves has launched a new initiative for local buyers and sellers to enable rapid house purchases.

The Chain Free initiative is exclusively for homeowners looking to sell quickly. Properties featured have a dedicated web page on www.bairstoweves.co.uk/chainfree.

For buyers keen to make the most of low property prices and interest rates, Chain Free showcases properties that are available for early occupation as no chains involved in the sale.

Managing director Vernon Harris said: "We were one of the first agents to recognise that in this climate our customers want a fast, hassle-free purchase. We've got fantastic properties, offering great value."

Chain Free properties include part-exchange, repossessions, relocation instructions, vacant properties and local sellers wanting a quick sale.

Local sellers frustrated by slow house sales should contact their local Bairstow Eves branch to see if they can market their home through this new initiative.

"We have access to a vast range of properties that are available now for early occupation and a specialist Fast Start conveyancing service, which is proven to reduce the time it takes for house sales to complete," said Mr Harris.

For more information, visit the Bairstow Eves website or call (01279) 626117 to book an appointment.

TURNING BACK THE CLOCK
Zac Efron stars in body swap drama 17 Again
cinema: page 36

HTC's feast of one-act drama | Music winners

AS you tuck into your chocolate eggs this Easter, be sure to leave room for the veritable feast of drama soon to be served up by Harlow Theatre Company.

With a selection of one-act plays ranging from Harold Pinter's gritty One For The Road to Michael Frayn's hilarious Black And Silver, the amateur dramatics group hopes to provide something for everyone across three nights of mirth, melancholy and melodrama.

Other highlights will include a subtle and humorous character study by Alan Bennett and two short pieces by Pinter and N.F. Simpson.

The event at Old Harlow's Victoria Hall Theatre also marks the return of Jane Miles, who last year played Mrs Danvers in HTC's affecting adaptation of Rebecca, this time with her director's hat on.

Elsewhere, Heather Bygrave makes her directorial debut, familiar faces Ian Stacey and Sarah Wiggins return to the stage after an absence of several years, and Victoria Hall Performing Arts Association head Paul Johnson appears together with son William in Pinter's complex and disturbing One For The Road.

HTC's Alan Jones said: "Altogether, this will be an evening to savour, with something for everyone, and is not to be missed."

The three-night run begins on April 23 at 8pm. Tickets are £7.50 (£6 concessions) from (01279) 420062.

A BUDDING teenage violinist hit all the right notes to emerge victorious at Harlow Rotary Club's 18th annual Young Musician Of The Year contest.

Leonid Plashinov-Johnson (13), from Bishop's Stortford, beat 119 talented youngsters to the coveted prize following a testing day of heats, rehearsals and a final concert performed in front of a packed Playhouse audience.

Stortford pianists Alexander Jones (15) and Stephen Smithers (12) also won awards in, respectively, the under-16 and under-12 categories.

Adjudicator Andrew Parnell said: "The standard of musicianship was very high this year, which made judging the competition – and making the final decisions – very difficult indeed."

Ballet celebrates with a real classic

By CHRIS MOSS

BALLET dancers are limbering up for a cracking Easter extravaganza of fun, fairytales and fouettés set to wow audiences at The Playhouse over the next five nights.

The acclaimed Harlow Ballet Association celebrates its 50th anniversary this year and has gone back to its roots to put on a magical new performance of the first-ever full-length ballet it produced in 1961, Tchaikovsky's masterful The Nutcracker.

The beautifully choreographed story follows young Clara as she rescues her beloved Nutcracker Prince from the clutches of the sinister Rat King and is rewarded by her dashing beau with a magical journey to the Kingdoms of Snow and Sweets.

Opening tonight (Thursday) and continuing its run until Easter Monday, the timeless and ever-popular ballet will be performed in its original three-act version and will feature more than 80 dancers, the youngest of whom is just three years old!

HBA chairman Dave Cowdrey said: "If the rehearsals are anything to go by, then this will be a really great success."

"Our children have been very focused in their preparation and they have been working tirelessly preparing for the show – may Harlow Ballet always continue to provide the opportunity for our children to perform on the main stage of The Playhouse."

With stunning sets by Gwen Turner, exquisite costumes from the well-stocked HBA wardrobe and lighting by Peter Lines, the production will make full use of The Playhouse's thrust stage to make it an Easter weekend treat not to be missed. The evening shows tonight (Thursday) and Friday take place at 7.30pm, with special family matinees on Saturday, Easter Sunday and Easter Monday at 3pm. Tickets for all performances are £10 for adults and £6 for children from (01279) 431945.

arts diary

PHOTOGRAPHY: A free exhibition of drawings and paintings by Charles Long and Noviko Matsubara will be on display at St John's ARC, in Old Harlow, until April 18. The gallery is open until 5pm most days.

ART: Sibyls & Symbols, local artist Liz Boast's free exhibition of paintings, prints and sculpture, continues at The Gallery at Parndon Mill until May 10.

MUSIC: The legendary Patsy Cline is remembered in a tribute featuring many of her greatest hits at The Playhouse on Wednesday at 7.30pm. Tracing the career of the great songstress from her country and western roots through to later dalliances in jazz and pop, Irish singer Nina Dusky (replacing Barbara Ellis) pays homage to a household name. Tickets are £15 (£14 concessions) from (01279) 431945.

CHILDREN: Popular TV programme Fifi & The Flowerpots moves to the stage for the new production, Fairy & The Flowerpots. Hapless fairy Clair is blown off course and lands in Flowerpot Garden – can Fifi and her Flowerpot friends help Clair find her missing magic wand so she can mend her wings and return home? The show is staged at The Playhouse on Thursday and Friday afternoon at 1pm and 3.30pm. Tickets are £13 (£11 for children) and are available from (01279) 431945.

17 AGAIN

certificate 12A, running time 1h 41m

"IF that boy were an apple, he'd be a Delicious!" coos a smitten female high school student as Zac Efron's teen dreamboat struts through the hallways of 17 Again.

For the next hour-and-a-half, Burr Steers' body-swap comedy bows down at the altar of the High School Musical pin-up as he single-handedly teaches the young people of the world how to behave with dignity – no pre-marital sex, no alcohol, no smoking, no parties when your parents are away, respect your elders, stand up to bullies, support your friends and dress like you've stepped out of a fashion catalogue.

Follow the gospel of Zac and you too can have girls swooning in your wake and guys clamouring to be your best buddy – 17 Again is glossy wish fulfilment writ large.

Mike O'Donnell (Matthew Perry) feels like he's been dealt successively bad hands by fate, with no end in sight to his misery.

His wife Scarlett (Leslie Mann) has thrown him out, his children despise him and, to add insult to injury, he's just been passed over for promotion.

In a freakish twist, Mike tumbles over a bridge into a whirlpool and is magically transformed into his 17-year-old self (Zac Efron).

Having recovered from shock of the metamorphosis, Mike realises his new look is a gift not a curse.

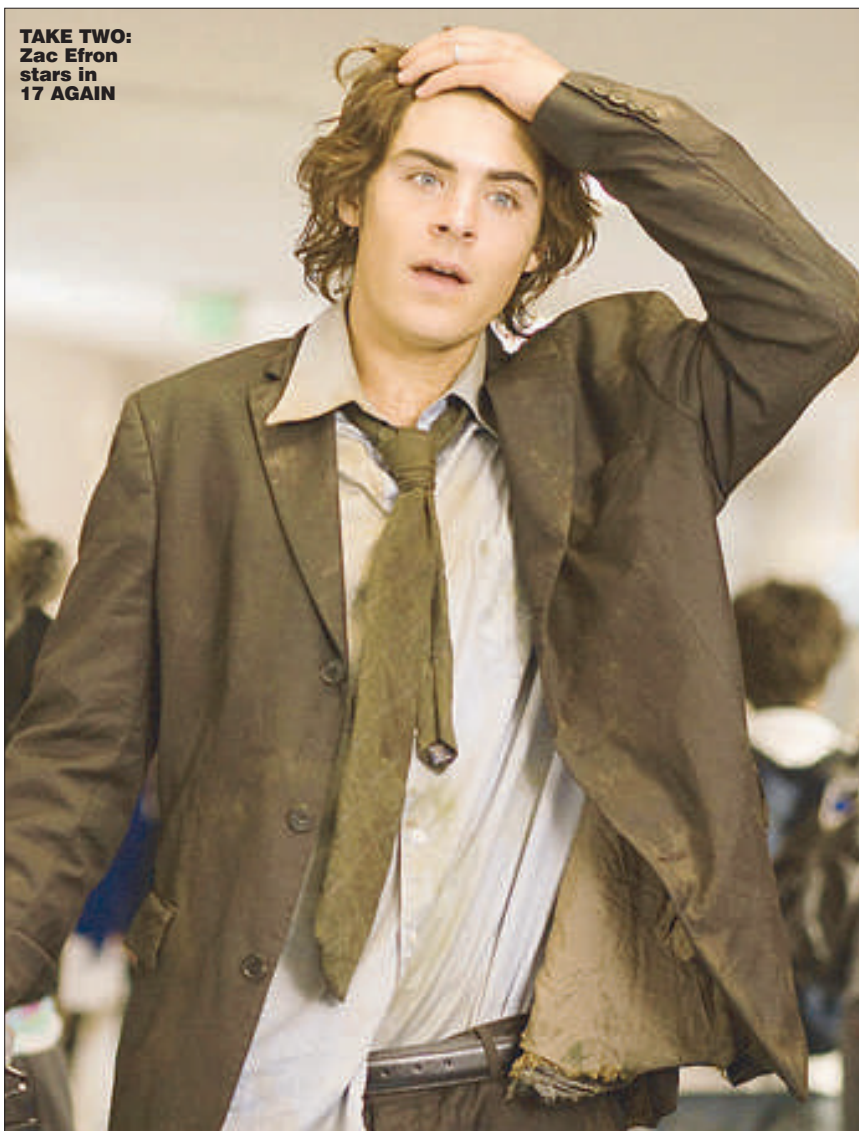

"This is my chance to have my life over, but to do it right. I'm going back to high school!" he tells sci-fi fixated best friend Ned (Thomas Lennon), who poses as his father to ensure he sails through the admissions process.

In his guise as the new boy, Mike bonds with his daughter and son, showing them the error of their hormone-driven ways ("When you're young, everything feels like the end of the world") whilst reminding Scarlett that her marriage isn't broken beyond repair.

Screenwriter Jason Filardi keeps everything wholesome, inspiring the target teen audience to dream with his hero's basketball mantra: "It's not how big you are, it's how big you play."

17 Again plays moderately well.

RACE TO WITCH MOUNTAIN

certificate PG, running time 1h 38m

It's back! Almost 30 years after the original, the 21st century edition of Race To Witch Mountain is slick and sprightly, ticking all of the boxes with ruthless efficiency.

Jack, a one-time wheelman for the Mob, is shocked to discover two children in the backseat of his cab during a daytime patrol of Las Vegas.

And he's even more taken aback when he learns they're extra terrestrials who have come to Earth to retrieve an artefact to save their dying planet from destruction.

FAST & FURIOUS

certificate 12A, running time 1h 47m

Turbo-charged and haphazardly plotted, the fourth instalment of the street-racing franchise is back with original cast members Vin Diesel and Paul Walker.

The bronzed beefcakes put the pedal to the metal in a preposterous tale of revenge and redemption.

The script runs on empty, but audiences can happily put their brains in neutral to enjoy the pyrotechnics and relentless male posturing, not to mention racing sequences as outrageous and spectacular as ever.

DRAGONBALL EVOLUTION

certificate PG, running time 1h 24m

Goofy and awkward teenager Goku lives with his grandfather and is viewed as a joke by his peers, so a girl like the beautiful and popular Chi Chi is completely out of his league and he must be content to admire her from afar.

Little does he realise he is destined to fulfil an ancient prophecy by defeating the dastardly Lord Piccolo and his snivelling sidekick Mai, who seek seven mystical and powerful dragonballs.

Goku is accompanied on his quest by sensei Master Roshi and by the magical Bulma and fighter Yum Cha, whose combined cunning and strength will help the teenager realise his potential and perhaps even catch Chi Chi's eye.

sound check with chris moss

AS The Square's revitalised Rock Contest moves ever closer to the semi-finals, we've been so caught up in the excitement here at Sound Check towers that we're ashamed to say we've neglected to give ample (or indeed any) coverage to the astonishing adventures of some of Harlow's favourite sons.

I'm talking, of course, about the mighty fireball of tuneless testosterone that is The Stolen Coda and their breathless pursuit of the prestigious Live And Unsigned 2009 crown. Having swept through the regional heats in a flurry of seismic, bone-shaking riffs and breakneck rumbas, the howlin'-and-a-hollerin', rasp 'n' roll bluesmen are now preparing for the competition's area final on May 3 at The Beck Theatre in Hayes, Middlesex. But wipe away those proud tears and put the music mogul Malcolm McLaren and, err, Dane Bowers from Another Level.

I know what you're thinking – Bowers can probably be bought off with a pasty and chips. But that's not going to be enough to swing it.

If you really, truly want the Coda to win that lucrative (we're talking £20k ferchrissakes) recording contract and officially be the best thing to come out of Harlow since Glenn Hoddle, you're going to have to cross the border into Middlesex (shudder) and show your support. Altogether now, Strike Up The Band!

Wild? These mercenaries are livid

THE WILD GEESE: SPECIAL EDITION

(Arrow Films, 15, retail)

Filmed (controversially for its day) in apartheid-era South Africa, 1978's The Wild Geese is a sometimes tough and politically cynical escapist 'dads and lads' action movie of the kind they simply don't make any more.

When the legitimate regime of fictional African country Zembala is toppled, hugely wealthy industrialist Sir Edward Matherson (Steward Granger) recruits a team of 50 mercenaries to go in and liberate popular deposed leader Julius Limbani (Winston Ntshona) because he can restore access to lucrative copper rights.

Hard-drinking Colonel Allan Faulkner (Richard Burton) assembles a team including ace planner Captain Rafer Janders (Richard Harris), pilot Lieutenant Shawn Fynn (Roger Moore) and South African Lieutenant Pieter Coetze (Hardy Krüger), plus hard-as-nail Sergeant Major Sandy Young (Jack Watson) to pull them all into shape.

In one of the film's most striking sequences, they parachute into the country and set about their mission with crisp efficiency – but back at home, Matherson and the political establishment have done a deal with the new despots for their copper and simply cut The Wild Geese loose.

With no escape route and the army snapping at their heels, the mercs opt to fight a desperate rearguard action through the unforgiving terrain with an astonishingly unlikely plan to use Limbani as the catalyst for a national uprising.

The Wild Geese often feels as if it shouldn't work and yet somehow does. The star quartet appear far too old and cumbersome to convince as tough mercenaries (Roger Moore, despite some real life military experience, looks about as credible as Julian Clary playing a ninja), yet they imbue the grizzled veterans with a credible sense of men past their prime who are seeking an honourable end it to all.

Then there's the relationship between Afrikaans soldier-turned-farmer Coetze and Limbani, and although the arc of the former travels from dismissive antagonism to respect a bit clumsily, it nevertheless feels sincere.

The action sequences are very well handled, giving the firefights and a sequence of crossbow sniping a suitable flavour of comic book heroics, and once in a while director Andrew McLaglen pulls out a moment of striking pathos such as the Watson's tough old boy meeting his fate at the hands of a circle of machete-wielding assailants with philosophical equanimity.

This special edition includes a commentary featuring Roger Moore, producer Euan Lloyd and editor John Glen, featurette The Last Of The Gentleman Producers – The Life And Works Of Euan Lloyd, newsreel footage of the world premiere, a gallery and trailer.

AMUSEMENT

(Entertainment In Video, 18, retail & rental)

Very nearly delivering the slasher genre's first portmanteau movie, director John Simpson and screenwriter Jake Wade Wall fumble the linking device and wind up with a film which adds up to a little less than the sum of its parts.

That isn't to say Amusement's not worth 85 minutes of your time, because its component parts are effective short riffs on three horror archetypes, starring hot young actresses and packed with references to, and cues from, a lot of other flicks.

It gets underway with a squirt of adrenalin as Shelby (Laura Breckenridge) finds herself on a lonesome road with a madman on the loose (Jeepers Creepers, Road Kill, etc), continues with Tabitha (Katheryn Winnick) as a babysitter in for a rough and storm-lashed night (Halloween), plus a huge dollop of Poltergeist clowning and brings us up to pace with Lisa (Jessica Lucas) as the plucky heroine who wanders into the bad house where bad things happen (Texas Chainsaw Massacre, et al).

It turns out the trio have a childhood nemesis in common, a messed-up kid with an ostentatiously mad giggle and a penchant for hurting critters who's grown up to be, well, just the same but bigger and more ambitious.

Even though each story amounts to little more than a series of well-crafted clichés and motifs, they're sufficiently well done to maintain interest.

It's just a shame that the climax ends up with the predictably tired running-around-and-screaming schtick.

THE CORNER

(HBO Home Entertainment, 18, retail)

Before they created the award-winning and compulsively watchable crime series The Wire, Baltimore journalists David Simon and Ed Burns cut their teeth on this unflinching look at the realities of life on their city's drugs frontline.

Based on their non-fiction book The Corner: A Year in the Life of an Inner-City Neighbourhood and loosely charting a year in the life of the place every city has, where drug pushers meet drug addicts, this six-part mini-series looks at the bigger picture of survival in such an area through the filter of deftly woven characterisation, as a young teenager, his family, friends and neighbours all struggle to keep above water.

The acting is first rate – future stars of The Wire including Clarke Peters, Lance Reddick and Corey Parker Robinson all take part – and it's directed by actor Charles S. Dutton, who grew up in East Baltimore.

Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Get your brand closer to people's lives

No other medium is as close to people's hearts as Regional Press. Consumers consider it an integral part of their community.

The effectiveness of regional press advertising in driving sales comes down to the simple fact that people prefer to do most of their spending close to where they live.

Consumers' Choice V, a national consumer survey by TNS Media, found that regional press advertising is the most frequently acted upon, with 61% of people responding to it!

Gas Safe Register

Gas Safe Register replaced the CORGI gas register in Great Britain and the Isle of Man on April 1, 2009.

There is only one gas safety register that you need to use. Look for the yellow Gas Safe Register triangle, not the orange CORGI registration badge.

Anyone carrying out work on gas must be registered with Gas Safe Register. If not, they are breaking the law and putting you and your family at risk. Only a Gas Safe Registered Engineer is legally allowed to install gas appliances, boilers, hobs, ovens or fires in your home or workplace.

You must only use a Gas Safe Registered Engineer for any type of gas work, including installation, maintenance and servicing.

What is Gas Safe Register?

Gas Safe Register exists to protect you, your family and your property from dangerous gas work. Incorrectly fitted, badly-repaired or poorly-maintained gas appliances are a major cause of lethal carbon monoxide (CO) poisoning, and can also lead to gas leaks and explosions.

To carry out work on gas installations and appliances safely and legally, engineers in Great Britain and the Isle of Man must be on the Gas Safe Register. We make sure the 120,000 engineers on the register are safe by inspecting the gas work they have carried out.

We are interested in the experiences you have had, when using gas engineers. You can report good or bad gas work to us using our 'nominate gas work for inspection' service.

Skilful Colts dispatch close rivals Chingford

EXCELLENT handling and flowing three quarters' moves were strong features of Harlow Colts' 46-27 victory at Chingford.

The visitors were 20-12 ahead at half-time. Harlow's first-half tries came from flanker Lewis Buckner and fly-half Dan Smith. Smith was one of four Rams U-17s who stepped up and played very well. Terry Blackwell converted both tries and also kicked two penalties in the first half.

Youth rugby

In reply, Chingford scored two tries, converting one.

After the break, tries from James Lewis and man-of-the-match Mark Ellis plus a Blackwell conversion put Harlow 32-12 ahead.

Ross King and Luke Bowering scored further Harlow tries, both of which were converted by Blackwell.

Harlow U-16s substitute Ryan

Blackman scored the decisive unconverted try with just a few minutes remaining as his side triumphed 36-32 at home to Hitchin.

Harlow surged into a 19-0 lead with well-crafted tries from Jordan Dunn, Harry Flynn and Ryan Clark. Deniz Crafton kicked two conversions.

The visitors fought back and scored three tries and one conversion (17-19).

A dramatic second half saw Crafton score a try he converted before Jack Darby powered over the Hitchin line for an unconverted try.

Hitchin fought back to lead by a point but Blackman produced his bit of magic.

Harlow U-14s had only 13 players and were loaned two by hosts Sudbury who won 31-10.

The Suffolk side dominated the first 20 minutes and scored three tries, one of which was converted.

The Junior Rams began to play better rugby but the hosts led 17-0 at the break.

Harlow's outside centre Kurtis Knightley went over for an unconverted try in the corner after the restart.

The visitors pressed forward but left gaps at the back and Sudbury exploited those gaps to score two more tries.

Harlow skipper Zac Chammaouie scored the last try of the game when he crashed over after a 10m dash.

In the Essex League division one, Upper Clapton lost 24-34 at home to Clacton.

Robins injuries start to mount

Sawbridgeworth Tn 2, Eton Manor 3

Essex Senior Football League

THE Robins will have a depleted squad for their last two league games of the season.

Strikers Kevin Moore (broken collar bone) and Ben Doyle (back injury) are almost certainly ruled out and defender Tom Day will remain sidelined after missing the last three games with a stress fracture of the lower part of a leg.

Defender Phil Bulled joined the injury list after going off with a recurrence of a leg injury during Sawbridgeworth's home defeat to Eton Manor on Saturday.

A controversial third goal for Manor was the decisive turning point as the Robins were beaten.

Sawbridgeworth were trailing 2-1 when their keeper Jamie Ring appeared to be fouled from a visitors' corner on 55 minutes. But the referee missed the infringement and Jerry Nkrumah fired in.

Peter Wickham, the Sawbridgeworth boss, said: "It was disappointing. Jamie had got the ball and then it was knocked out of his hands. A free-kick should have been given."

Sawbridgeworth, missing unavailable midfielder Raich Fraser and defender Marcus Copland, went ahead on 11 minutes. A goalmouth scramble from a Neil Pedeley corner resulted in Richard Longley heading firmly in.

Manor equalised immediately. Nkrumah ran through and hammered into the net from 14 yards.

On 43 minutes Manor went 2-1 ahead through Joe May's free-kick.

The East London side then netted their third in controversial circumstances before Sawbridgeworth pulled a goal back on 65 minutes. Good work from Matt Coggin set up Dan Hudson who finished smartly.

Skipper upbeat over relegated team's future

Harlow 1, Brentwood 2

(East Men's Hockey League, division 3SE)

A HOST of talented young players are set to quit Harlow Hockey Club as the men's first team faces a huge summer rebuild.

Joe Symonds side, who were already relegated prior to Saturday's narrow home defeat against Brentwood in their final game, could lose five players.

Richard Norris, Kim Harvey, Michael Adams, Ben Light and Dean Grace are all moving onto various universities.

On the plus side Symonds has pledged to stay on as skipper in the 2009-10 campaign in division four south east.

Having been promoted due to League restructuring, it was always going to be a tough ask for Harlow to remain in division three south east.

Symonds said: "I have been pleased with the hard work and attitude of my players this season – because of this the fight to survive went down to the penultimate game of the season.

"Next season I plan to build on these experiences and with a young side have a strong season and a top-half finish.

"Unfortunately we will lose some of our young talent next season as Richard Norris, Kim Harvey, Michael Adams, Ben Light and Dean Grace – who have all played at some point this season – all head off to university. The club wishes them all the best and looks forward to them hopefully returning in the not too distant future."

Harlow grew in confidence in Saturday's match and took the lead after a period of good possession.

The ever menacing Craig Cholerton evaded his marker and showed a good turn of pace to fire the ball across goal where strike partner James Smith had lost his man to slot the ball in from close range.

Brentwood equalised from a penalty corner near half-time which Harlow felt should have been disallowed because it was scored from above knee height, breaching the rules of the game.

The visitors went in front from a free hit which was tapped in at the back post.

Harlow had a goal disallowed before Smith's late effort was deflected around a post as an equaliser went begging.

HARLOW: Johnson, Jones, Castle, Adams, Harvey, Krozka, Kirk, Symonds (c) Tovell, Cholerton, Smith. Sub: Grace.

Chairman: 'It's still in Hawks' hands'

Alzapiedi had anticipated that Harlow would lose the appeal, but is confident that the club can avoid relegation.

"I have looked at it as if we have not had those points. We were all aware it was a probable outcome," he said.

"It's still in our hands. If we win our games we stay up and if we work hard we can win them. Every game is a cup final. It's as simple as that."

Harlow have four matches left. The first is at home to Horsham on Saturday and then away to AFC Hornchurch on Easter Monday.

Horsham are 13th and Alzapiedi believes they could be dragged into the relegation zone while Hornchurch are seventh and still eyeing a play-off spot.

"Horsham are not out of it and I am expecting a tough game while Hornchurch are a physical side and they have a lot of experience," said Alzapiedi.

Midfielder Sam Berry will return on Monday after a four-match suspension.

Skipper Mark Taylor hopes to have recovered from his hamstring injury to play in one or both games.

Utility player Clark Akers is unlikely to have recovered from an ankle injury for the Horsham game but may make the squad for the Hornchurch clash.

Clinical Jets ground Sawbo

Sawbridgeworth Tn 2, Oxhey Jets 5
 South Mids Floodlit Cup, quarter-final

THE superior finishing of 10-man Oxhey Jets proved decisive as they dumped the Robins out of the Spartan South Midlands Floodlit Cup.

Jets were already leading 5-1 in Tuesday's last eight tie at Crofter's End when two-goal hero Jamie Arthur was sent off on 77 minutes.

The hosts went ahead on 23 minutes. Karl Bull fired a powerful shot which went in off a post.

He added a second on the half-hour mark from a narrow angle.

Arthur then scored on 32 and 52 minutes, either side of a Paul Turner effort on 46 minutes.

The hosts pulled a goal back when Neil Pedeley converted Conlan's cross from 25 yards out.

On 80 minutes Sawbo made it 5-2. Raich Fraser headed in.

Street no show

POTTER Street were unable to field a side for their clash with White Ensign in the senior premier division of the LFC Insurance Essex Olympian Football League.

Although Street lie 10th in the 14-team division they are not in immediate danger of the drop.

Despite their excellent 4-1 home victory over Mountnessing Boca, Epping still lie second from bottom.

The hosts netted through Ben Polley (2), Graham Jeater and Lee Humphries.

Chris Woods replied for Boca.

Mixed fortunes for Luke

LUKE Bowen endured a disappointing day as he delivered just a solitary point in Rye House Rockets' 49-41 defeat at Somerset in the Premier Trophy.

The Harlow racer took part in three races in Friday's meeting.

Former Mark Hall School student Bowen showed more endeavour in the Hoddesdon team's Premier Trophy meeting against Kings Lynn at home on Saturday.

Rye House won this match 49-44.

Bowen linked up with team-mates Darcy Ward and Tomas Topinka for a crucial 5-1 which put the Hoddesdon team into a 39-36 lead.

He ended with a 4+1 tally from four races.

Robert Mear shone with 15 points from five rides.

Lucia eyes treble after extra-time joy

Alemite Ath 5, Gas Recreation res 2

(After Extra Time)

Essex Saturday Junior Cup final

THREE players were sent off in the Essex Saturday Junior Cup final as Alemite

Athletic scored three times in extra-time to snatch the silverware.

The Harlow side finished the match with nine men, but at that stage led 5-2 in the final at Burroughs Park last Wednesday.

Alemite manager Peter Lucia hailed hat-trick hero Lewis Eaglestone. "Lewis is something special in front of goal. He scores a lot of goals in all competitions," Lucia said.

"I didn't feel comfortable until we scored the fifth goal, though. We looked frightened during the first half and it was a great battle. Having looked nervous, we had to pick ourselves up, then after they equalised at the end of 90 minutes we had to do it all over again."

IN IT TO WIN IT: The triumphant Alemite Athletic team sponsored by Harlow-based electronics firm Telesys (NGHX7DMB01)

Colchester-based Essex & Suffolk Border League outfit Gas Recreation took the lead on 25 minutes when 48-year-old Daniel Daly glanced a header into the bottom corner.

Steve Smith headed against the crossbar as Alemite piled on the pressure. Their persistence was rewarded when Jamie Gordon's cross was stabbed in by Eaglestone on 57 minutes.

The forward doubled his tally six minutes later. Gavin Cockman cut the ball back for Eaglestone to neatly flick past Glen Morrison at the near post.

Gas forced extra-time on the stroke of full-time when Dale Willoughby's shot hit the left post and went in.

Eaglestone eventually restored Alemite's lead. The front man struck on 102 minutes, beating the offside trap and dribbling around the goalkeeper to slot into an empty net.

Cockman made it 4-2 just before the turnaround, cutting in from the right and chipping past Morrison.

The Colchester side were reduced to 10 men when Jamie Duffett was shown a red card for a second caution.

Daly then headed past his own keeper to make it 5-2.

Alemite had James Thomas and Robert Garraty sent off in the last quarter, but the Harlow side held on for the remaining minutes to lift the cup. Lucia added: "It's a good feeling. It has been brilliant to come back and win it. The boys deserve it as they have got better as the competition has gone on. It's a young squad, but it's a good squad, and hopefully we can go on in the League and League Cup now."

Hat-trick hero's final triumph

Maypole Ath res 2, Ridsen Wd res 3

Harlow & District Football League, Division One Cup final

HAT-TRICK hero Andrew Newman played the starring role as Ridsen Wood reserves won the Division Two Cup.

His contribution was decisive in denying Maypole Athletic reserves who had come back from 2-0 down to 2-2 at Harlow Town FC on Sunday.

Newman's third goal on 82 minutes put Ridsen ahead for the third and final time.

There was still more drama to come as Ridsen's Aston Fitzmaurice volleyed past his own keeper Matt Ponter on 89 minutes. But the linesman's flag was up against a Maypole player who was deemed to be interfering with play.

Maypole's unhappiness at this decision continued after the final whistle which saw their keeper Ian Rundall sent off for verbally abusing the referee.

Earlier, Ridsen went ahead on five minutes. Maypole failed to clear a corner and Newman scrambled the ball into the net.

CELEBRATION: Ridsen Wood reserves celebrate their Division One Cup final success (YRLBFFMQ01)

Shortly after, Ridsen's Harlow Town FC reserve player Craig Charles forced Rundall to make a great save, diving to his left and tipping the ball round a post.

Ridsen were weakened when defender and skipper Martyn Henry went off (groin injury).

Shortly before the break, Stuart Zanone - whose pace troubled Ridsen throughout - put in an inch-perfect cross for Terry Martin whose header was nodded off the line.

On 49 minutes, Maypole gave the ball away just outside the box and Newman intercepted to round Rundall and tuck home his and Ridsen's second.

Ponter made a few smart saves but he could do nothing to prevent Stuart Zanone firing into the bottom corner on 58 minutes to halve the deficit.

Zanone then made it 2-2 on 65 minutes when he beat two defenders before smashing the ball home.

The game become more open and Newman headed home the winner from Charles'

Alvyn Charles, Ridsen's player-manager said: "We deserved to win and all of Andrew Newman's goals were quality."

RIDSEN WOOD RES: Ponter, Fitzmaurice, Fussell, Henry (Taylor 15), Harris (A. Charles 70), Poole, Rayner (Mackay 80), Wilkinson, Horn, C. Charles, Newman.

Defeat puts dent in reserves' title hopes

AFC Hornchurch res 2, Harlow Tn res 1
(Capital League, eastern division)

A MAKESHIFT Hawks reserves side was undone by a 93rd-minute goal as AFC Hornchurch came from behind to steal victory from the league leaders.

Striker Craig Charles was forced to play as a makeshift defender and partnered reserves boss Kevin Warren at the back!

The visitors started solidly and took the lead in the 21st minute. Tom Webb was chopped down in the area, but the young striker got up to dispatch the resulting penalty.

Hornchurch improved after the break and drew level just before the hour mark when midfielder Nicky Driver equalised.

Just as the game looked to be heading for a draw, up popped Jon Green in the third minute of time added on to clinch a shock victory for the home side.

Harlow remain three points clear at the top but can still be caught by Aveley and Chelmsford.

Rams' plea for Mersea win falls on deaf ears

Mersea Island 26, Harlow 10

(London division three north east)

THE Rams can finish no higher than second from bottom after losing at fellow strugglers Mersea.

Harlow are still 11th in the 12-team table with one game left after Saturday's defeat which left them five points behind Mersea.

They are not expected to be relegated as only Norwich will go down from this division.

Rams host the Norfolk side in their final game in nine days time but Norwich are four points behind and cannot catch them.

Harlow, missing winger Will Grimley

ON THE CHARGE: Harlow skipper Paul Eynon (HRG7DBJD-10)

(family commitments) and flanker Sean Roberts (work commitments), had the wind and slope in their favour in the first half.

The visitors went ahead in the second minute when a good break by fly-half James McFerran saw him over go over for an unconverted try in the corner.

Harlow doubled their advantage with a well-worked unconverted try on 10 minutes. Centre

Simon Vanbeck wrong-footed the home defence before running in to score. However, McFerran (3) and Lee Harron missed four long-range penalties during the first half.

The hosts cut the deficit to three points on 22 minutes. James Parks exploited a gap to touch down for a try converted by Jon Williams.

Williams then kicked a penalty to level the score (10-10).

Mersea started the second half strongly.

The visitors went ahead on 45 minutes when centre Darryl Walters went over for an unconverted try.

The hosts had stretched their advantage to 21-10 in by 55th minute as Williams kicked a penalty before Paul Le Marquand slotted over a drop goal.

McFerran, who was carrying an ankle injury, went off soon after. He was replaced by Dave Stradling. Harlow created two good opportunities but were unable to exploit them.

The hosts put the match beyond Harlow when Brendan Cook went over for an unconverted try on 74 minutes.

Rams skipper Paul Eynon said: "They knew the ground and played the slope well and we needed to get more points in the first half."

"We were also not clinical enough in the second half."

HARLOW: Mackie, Woodington (Banks 50), L. Bowering, Vanbeck, C. Webb, McFerran (Stradling 55), Harron, Ephgrave, Wilkins, Prindiville, Hawkins, Palmer, M. Bowering, Morgan, Eynon.

Late wonder goal gives Hawks crucial victory

Ramsgate 1, Harlow Tn 2
(Ryman League, prem div)

A FANTASTIC 87th-minute strike from Michael Bardle gave Harlow Town a vital win in their battle against the drop.

The Hawks were drawing 1-1 at basement club Ramsgate when left-back Bardle struck on Saturday.

Bardle, who had set up Harlow's first goal, fired in a 30-yard volley which flew into the net to save Harlow's blushes.

Hawks boss Glen Alzapiedi said: "It did not surprise me. It is something he is capable of. I have seen him score goals like this before."

"I was confident [of scoring] but you do get worried as time goes on."

Alzapiedi switched Jon Stevenson into defence while Laurie Stewart was restored to central midfield.

Forward Jamie Richards also came back into the starting line-up with Chris Ellerbeck suspended.

The Kent side went ahead on 14 minutes through a Luke Coleman penalty.

This was awarded after Hawks defender Ricky Byrne brought down Tom Tsangarides inside the box. Byrne was booked for the challenge.

Am amusing moment came when a Ramsgate player

WONDER STRIKE: Michael Bardle struck a wonder goal for Harlow Town on Saturday (QCKMINK4R-01) kicked the corner flag and scuffed the ball at the same time!

On 27 minutes, the Rams had the ball in the net when

Stevenson's attempted clearance ricocheted in off Dan Tanner, but the referee adjudged the home defender to have handled the ball and disallowed the goal.

Alzapiedi made an attacking tactical move at the break.

He brought on striker John Frendo and sacrificed midfielder Shaun Gliddon.

Harlow almost equalised on 48 minutes when a delicate shot from Tom Bruno came back off the face of a post before the Rams defence cleared.

The Hawks drew level on 63 minutes. Bardle's perfectly-weighted ball over the top found Richards, who skillfully flicked the ball over the advancing Ramsgate keeper Shaun Alliston and into the net.

With Ramsgate resorting to launching long balls into the Harlow half, the visitors enjoyed the bulk of possession.

Alzapiedi went for broke, bringing on winger Emmanuel Osei-Owusu for Stewart as an emergency striker as Hawks went with four up front.

Ricci Crace then fired a shot over the bar and it was left to Harlow's left-back to show the strikers exactly how it's done.

Alzapiedi added: "I was very pleased with our second-half performance. We looked very nervous in the first half."

HARLOW TN: Hasell, Byrne, Bardle, Wolf, Stevenson, Stewart (Osei-Owusu 83), Bruno, Fowler, Richards, Crace, Gliddon (Frendo 45). Subs not used: Kear, Webb, Stone (gk). Att: 207.

Ladies secure championship

HARLOW Ladies held their nerve to beat title rivals Deeping Devils at Ram Gorse and win the championship and promotion.

Harlow used their pace against their bigger opponents in Sunday's decider.

Both sides exerted pressure before Harlow went ahead on 15 minutes. Davina Mclellan was given space and powered over for an unconverted try.

Ten minutes later, Harlow increased their lead. A brilliant pass from Sarah Stimpson to Abigail Perry saw the latter run 60 yards for a try under the posts.

Harlow Ladies 22, Deeping Devils 0 (RFUW South East, eastern division three)

Emily Gizzi converted and Harlow led 12-0 at half-time.

Going downhill after the break, Harlow increased their lead on 40 minutes.

Mclellan followed Stimpson's kick ahead and passed to Perry who drew a defender before passing back to Stimpson and she sprinted over the line for an unconverted try.

The final score came from a scrum just outside the Deeping 22 metre line.

The ball went down the Harlow line and Stimpson collected and passed to Toni Beard, who then touched down her first Harlow try. Kerry Palmer, the Rams coach, said: "They stepped up to the plate and played their socks off."

"There were some outstanding individual performances but it was a full team effort which gave them the win."

HARLOW LADIES (squad): Acraman, Souch, Lucas, Lacey, Lee, Diprose, Gizzi, Cotterill (capt), Millman, Stimpson, Perry, Mclellan, Conway, Mercer, McKenna, O'Donnell, Beard, Tovy.

'It's still in our hands'

Hawks can stay up despite points deduction

By DAVID RIMMER
rimmerd@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HAWKS chairman Simon Morgan and boss Glen Alzapiedi believe the club can bounce back from their three-points deduction and avoid the drop from the Ryman League premier division.

The Hawks fielded an ineligible player (Ricci Crace) in their 2-1 win at Wealdstone in February.

The Ryman League deducted Harlow the three points and after a hearing at the FA's headquarters in Soho Square, London, on Monday, the panel upheld the decision.

Harlow were represented by club officials and appointed a barrister for the appeal.

The decision has left Harlow in the relegation zone

IN OUR HANDS:
Boss Glen Alzapiedi with physio Paul West-Hook

(19th spot). Four sides go down.

Morgan said: "There are so many teams who could drop into the relegation zone, and we have as good a chance as any of staying up."

"We have an excellent manager in Glen Alzapiedi, and I have every faith in him to keep the club at this level."

He added: "It's a blow to us, but we put up a good fight. In a way, it is good that this matter is now over and done with, because we now know exactly where we stand in the League and can focus on survival without the ifs and maybes."

MD Simon Fishpool is keen to point out the advantages of a family owned business. "We only have our customers to please and can pass on any savings we negotiate with our suppliers directly on to them. Now's the time to make the most of the credit crunch and invest in some great value furniture from Fishpools before the prices start rising. There are some plus points like lower mortgages, the cut in VAT and the promise of lower fuel bills." So pay them a visit and discover the quality you would expect at prices you may not!

Make the right choice

Fishpools prides itself on their well-trained, knowledgeable people who can point you in the right direction and help you leave the store with the furniture that meets your needs.

They will guide you through all the options available and you'll never be pressured into making a purchase. You will be provided with as much information as you need to make the right choice.

Always consider what you expect from your furniture. What kind of wear and tear will it have to withstand? Is style or comfort your main priority? Finally, if you're looking for true comfort and durability, spend as much as you can afford. After all the old saying is still true. You do "only get what you pay for".
